

How to Join the Body Doubling Community

Body Doubling is now on Stoke — a reliable place to build a shared, lasting library of the tools and tips that help neurodivergent minds focus and get things done. Here's how to join in under a minute.

What you'll need: a phone or computer, and an email address. That's it — joining is free, and there's nothing to download.

1 Open the link

On your phone or computer, go to stoke.community/communities/bodydoubling.com. You'll land on the Body Doubling community page.

2 Tap “Join BodyDoubling.com”

On the community page you'll see an orange Join BodyDoubling.com button. Give it a tap.

3 Create your free account

Enter your email and a password to make your Stoke account. Already have one? Choose “I already have an account” and sign in instead. No email confirmation needed — you're in right away.

4 You're in!

That's it — you're now a member of the Body Doubling community and land right inside it. One account works across all of Stoke, so you never sign up twice.

Welcome to Body Doubling on Stoke

You can now work alongside the community, post on the bulletin board, RSVP to events, and add to our growing knowledge base — practical, hard-won tools and tips for neurodivergent minds.

ONCE YOU'RE IN

- Add a photo and a short bio so others can say hello.
- Browse the channels and events to see what's happening.
- Share a tool or tip that helps you focus — and search what's worked for others.
- Introduce yourself on the bulletin board — we'd love to meet you.
